HE WILL SEEK REST

Major McKinley and Wife Will Recuperate for Awhile.

IT'S BEEN A STRAIN ON HIM

Mrs. Castle May Not Have to Serve Three Months - Miss Corbin Married - Bryan's Greeting - Briefs.

Canton, O., Nov. 7.-McKinley was not aspir to-day before the customary callers had well surrounded the house and clustered about the windows. Mrs. McKinley was not well enough to be at the breakfast table. The major's noticeable worry through all the unprecedented work and strain he passed through has been when his wife was unable to be at his side. And there is no doubt he is anxious now to get her away from the never ending excitement necessarily attendant upon remaining in Canton.

The first important telegram to reach the household this morning was one to Joseph P. Smith, from Louisville, reading: "Official returns from a hundred counties and unofficial from the remaining 19 give Kentucky to McKinley by 47 majority. It is practically conceded that we have won after desperate fighting to the finish. Sam J. Roberts, chairman."

President-elect McKinley was greeted this morning by two delegations which extended congratulations. The first was composed of Stark county officials and attachés of the court house. The other was the Ohio McKinley and Hobart club of Akron, Ohio. The party was presented by Miss Ruth Ebricht, who said: "Major McKinley, we as a party of little girls offer you our heartiest congratulations and present you these flowers (handing the major a bunch of chrysanthemums) from the little folks, hoping your life will continue to be bright and pure as these flowers, which were painted by the hands of our Heavenly Father."

Major McKinley accepted the flowers with a word of thanks and then shook hands with each member of the party.

Taylor, Not Tillman.

Nashville Tenn., Nov. 7.-Governor returns received by the Banner from all but ten counties give Taylor, democrat, a majority of 2,750 over Tillman, republican.
The counties to be heard from gave Evan a majority of 345 in 1894.

Assisted Mrs. Castle.

London, Nov. 7.-The Westminster Gazette and other afternoon papers in this city urge the release on medical grounds of Mrs. Walter M. Castle, sentenced yesterday at Clarksenwell Sessions to three months imprisonment for shoplifting.

The Globe says it strongly believes in the mania of the defense and declares the sentence constitutes the most terrible violation of common justice "though," the article says, "it is certain the judge only desired to do what was just."

St. James Gazette, while agreeing that it is a case for clemency, in view of the prisoner's health, says: "If Mrs. Castle is released it ought to be clearly understood the evidence of kleptomania came to nothing. If her counsel relied on that defense, they would not have advised her to plead guilty. The robberies were frequent, systematic and artful."

Officials of the home office have not yet replied to the letter of Ambassador Bayard, urging clemency for Mrs. Castle on the ground of her physical condition. It is understood, however, the letter was marked unofficial and not sent as being from the United States ambassador. Bayard wrote the home secretary, Sir Matthew White Ridley, again to-day.

Bayard thanked the United States ambassador for past efforts and urging the ambassador to take every step possible to secure the release of Mrs. Castle. The home office declines to give any information on the subject to the press.

Quietly Married.

New York, Nov. 7.-Miss Annie Corbin, daughter of the late Austin Corbin, was married to-day to Hallett Alsop Barrowe.
The wedding, which took place at Christ church, West Islip, L. I., was a quiet affair, owing to the recent death of Mr.
Corbin. The wedding party returned after the ceremony to the Corbin residence, where the wedding breakfast was served.

Bryan Sends Greeting.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 7.-Bryan gave out to-day the following telegram addressed to eastern bimetalists: "In the hour of defeat I send you greeting.
No words of praise can sufficiently commend you. When I remember the eastern states sent gold delegates before the conventions and that nearly all the eastern papers were against bimetallism, your fight appears remarkably creditable. You have shown yourselves heroes and events will vindicate the position you have taken."

Bryan is receiving numerous telegrams and letters in response to his address calling upon advocates of silver to continue their efforts, assuring him of cooperation. He has set the 24th inst. for the reception to be tendered him by the people of Denver.

Fire in Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Nov. 7.-At 5 o'clock this morning fire broke out in the four-story building at 26 and 28 West Washington street occupied by Robson & Lawrie, dry goods. The entire building and stock valued at about $50,000, was destroyed. The cigar store of Charles F. Meyer & Co., and the Knox 5 and 10 cent store carrying $10,000 worth of stock, suffered heavily by water.

A Boston Failure.

Boston, Nov. 7.-William H. Treworgy, lumber dealer, has filed a voluntary petition of insolvency, caused by the failure of the Portsmouth, Vt., Lumber Manufacturing company, to which he advanced money. His liabilities are scheduled at $204,443; the assets consist of real estate, personal property, stock, etc., which he has transferred to the trustees for the benefit of creditors.

Storm on the Sea of Azoff.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 7.-A terrible storm has swept over the sea of Azoff.
Many shipping disasters are reported.

Wheat Was Firm.

London, Nov. 7.-At the Baltic today wheat was very firm, generally bid higher and in very moderate demand.

Several Vessels Lost.

Madrid, Nov. 7.-Heavy gales have swept the coast of Valencia and several vessels were lost.

Another Attorney Named.

Washington, Nov. 7.-Benjamin Traphell, Jr., of Charleston, W. V., has been appointed assistant United States attorney for the district of West Virginia, vice J. H. Couch, Jr., dismissed.

Skirmishes With Insurgents.

Havana, Nov. 7.-Colonel Arce, in charge of a convoy of fuel in the province of Santa Clara, has had several skirmishes with the insurgents during which the latter left eight killed on the field.

A LARGE OUTLAY.

Carnegie is So Confident That He Expends
a Few Millions.

Pittsburg, Nov. 7.-The Carnegie Steel company, limited, at a meeting to-day resolved to proceed with the building of two additional blast furnaces. The total expenditures at the works authorized exceeded a quarter million dollars. It was also decided to push to completion the new railroad to the lakes, requiring an expenditure of three and a half million dollars. Carnegie also accepted bids today for the erection of a new library and hall at Homestead to cost $250,000. He said he was so certain that the country was entering upon a period of prosperity he was willing to spend his surplus.

Grant Saluted by the Enemy.

From the November Century.

As soon as communication had been opened with our base of supplies, General Grant manifested an eagerness to reassure himself with the position of the enemy, with a view to taking the offensive. One morning he started towards our right, with several staff officers, to make a personal examination of that part of the line. When he came in sight of Chattanooga creek, which separated our pickets from those of the enemy, he directed those that had accompanied him to halt and remain out of sight while he advanced alone, which he supposed he could do without attracting much attention.

The pickets were within hailing distance of one another on opposite banks of the creek. They had established a temporary truce on their own responsibility, and the men of each army were allowed to get water from the same stream without being fired upon by those on the other side. A sentinel of our picket guard recognized General Grant as he approached, and gave the customary cry:

"Turn out the guard-commanding general!"

The enemy on the opposite side of the creek evidently heard the words, and one of the sentinels cried out:

"Turn out the guard-General Grant!"

The confederate guard took up the joke and promptly formed, facing our line, and presented arms. The general returned the salute by lifting his hat, the guard was then dismissed, and he continued his ride towards our right.

We knew that we were engaged in a civil war, but such civility largely exceeded our expectations.

Clever Chinese Conjurers.

From St. Nicholas.

The court jokers in the time of Kublai Kahn made it appear to those who looked on as if dishes from the table actually flew through the air. One of the travelers who visited the regions of which Marco Polo gives us some account says: "And jugglers cause cups of gold to fly through the air and offer themselves to all who list to drink." And Ibn Batuta, a Moor who visited Cathay a century after, gives this account of a similar incident:

"That same night a juggler who was one of the khan's slaves made his appearance, and the amir said to him:
'Come and show us some of your mar-vels.' Upon this he took a wooden ball, with several holes in it through which long things were passed and, laying hold of one of these, swung it into the air. It went so high that we lost sight of it altogether. It was the hottest season of the year and we were outside in the middle of the palace court. There now remained only a little of the end of a string in the conjurer's hand, and he desired one of the boys who assisted him to lay hold of it and mount. He did so, climbing by the string, and we lost sight of him also! The conjurer then called to him three times, but, getting no answer, he snatched up a knife as if in great rage, laid hold of the string and disappeared also! By and by he threw down one of the boy's hands, then a foot, then the other hand, and then the other foot, then the trunk and last of all, the head! Then he came down himself, all puffing and panting and with his clothes all bloody, kissed the ground before the amir and said something to him in Chinese. The amir gave some order in reply and our friend then took the lad's limbs, laid them together in their places and gave a kick, when, presto! there was the boy, who got up and stood before us! All this astonished me beyond measure and I had an attack of palpitation like that which overcame me once before in the presence of the sultan of India, when he showed me something of the same kind. The Kazi Afkharuddin was next to me, and quoth he: 'Wallah!
'tis my opinion there has been neither going up nor coming down, neither mar-gining nor mending; 'tis all hocus-pocus!'

Proves to Be a Snip.

From the Chicago Chronicle.

Two street inspectors walked into the barroom of a Clark street saloon the other day. One of them ordered the driver and the other a bill in payment.
"Don't break it," said his friend; "here, I think I've got the change."

"No," answered the man who had ordered the drinks. "I need some change," and he pushed the bill over the bar.

"Sorry, John," said the bartender, who evidently knew his customer, "but I've just turned the cash over to the boss and can't make change. You can pay some other time."

They walked out, stood on the corner chatting for a few moments, when suddenly the second man exclaimed: "Why, Jack, that's a great snap. We can very easily get another drink for nothing.
Loan me that bill for a minute."

"They reentered the saloon. "Same drinks again," said John's friend.

They were served and the $20 bill again passed over to the bartender. He took it, went to the register, fumbled inside a few moments, rang up $13.49 and then dumped two bills and a lot of silver on the bar.

"Twenty-five cents for the drinks," he said, "thirteen fifteen chalked up against you, and there's your change."

"All right," said the fellow.

"Well, I'll be switched!" was the only comment "Jack" made.

LONG TALES OF WOE

Marital Trouble Poured Into the Ears of Judge Spear.

A DECREE FOR ANNIE CROSS

Mary O'Laughlin Is Also Granted Separation-The Cases of the Snells, Eatons, Williams and Others.

Judge Spear yesterday morning heard proofs in the divorce case of Annie Cross against George Cross, and granted the plaintiff a decree of separation. She testified that they were married in Butte on July 6, 1890, and that they have no children. She said her husband had always provided for her, but did not treat her right and that he ran around with other women and was away from home frequently all night. He confessed to her, she said, that he had been criminally intimate with the notorious Ray Thorne and a married woman named Lillie Arlington. When he told her this she left him. That was last March and since then she has been supporting herself by running a boarding house on West Broadway.

A man named Tyndall testified that during July, 1894, he frequently saw Cross in Miss Thorne's room and once saw them in a compromising situation. Last February he also knew him to visit Mrs. Arlington while the latter's husband was away.

Judge McHatton heard the plain-tiff's proofs in the case of Mary O'Laughlin against Mortimer O'Laughlin. The woman testified that she married the defendant in Rhode Island in 1880, and for two years after that he contributed to her support, but then he quit work and she was compelled to support him by keeping boarders. She kept that up for eight years and then got tired of it and concluded that if she had to "trouble" she would do it for herself and permit her husband to take care of himself, so she took their little boy and came to Butte, where she had a brother living. Since then she has been doing all kinds of hard work. Her husband is still in the East. Mrs. O'Laughlin secured her divorce.

Allen Rowe yesterday commenced an action for divorce against Florence Mildred Rowe, to whom he was married in Wayne, Neb., on April 18, 1893.
On May 20, 1894, the defendant, he says, deserted him without cause and has ever since lived apart from him.
The parties have two children, a boy and girl, aged 6 and 5 years, but the father does not ask for their custody.
A suit for divorce was also brought against William W. Snell by Carrie M.
Snell. In her complaint she alleges that they were married in Shelby, Ill., March 8, 1882. She charges the defendant with extreme cruelty and says that on the 25th of last month, at their home in Butte, he threatened her with bodily injury and that he had made similar threats before that time. The couple have three children, all boys, aged 14, 12 and 6 years. The defendant is a member of the Butte police force.

Decrees of divorce were signed yesterday by Judge Spear in the Eaton and Williams cases and a default was entered in the case of Carter against Carter.
